

Adelaide 6 March Information Meeting

An Introduction to Technical Analysis

Charles Browne is a full time private trader and past National President of the Australian Technical Analysts Association (ATAA). He has lectured in technical analysis at tertiary level and has given numerous presentations in cities across Australia. Since 1972 he has traded a variety of markets including shares, futures and forex.

This presentation will outline how technical analysis can be used effectively by investors with a longer term view. Using a simple approach, Charles will discuss international markets and will demonstrate how technical analysis can provide early indications of market reversals. A number technical approaches will be discussed, including ways to minimise risk with new positions and also when to take windfall profits.
